BAND STORY

Hello there

My name, as you may have learned, is Arthur Pope.

I love music. I love to write it. I would like to make a living doing so. So you should give my stuff a listen . If you decide you like it, or at least like what I'm doing, I would love to get to know who you are, so please, leave some comments on my website, or email me via the contact page , and tell me a little about yourself.

If you would like to get to know me better, you can follow me on twitter ( @arthurpope).

If you would like to help me out, check out this page for details on how best to do so, but by far the most helpful thing you can do to support me, is to simply tell your friends about my music, and about this website.

Thank you so much for reading this, and giving your support, and enjoying my music.

LATEST NEWS

CSN Podcast #7 Features My Cry (that's one of my songs)

You can listen to podcast #7 or go to the podcast page by clicking on those words which are hyperlinked in the very sentence you just read. I am the second artist featured in this episode.

Here's a quick rundown on what CSN (the Christian Songwriter's Network) is, as taken from their home page: Our goal is to provide Christian songwriters the best resources available for ensuring success in their songwriting. Find the best songwriting contests for Christian music, participate in our active forum, and find ways to get your music heard.

Yup. It is a network of Christian songwriters. I used to be much more active in the CSN forums than I am currently. I may start chatting it up in there again someday, but I don't really have the time or ambition to engage in too many online communities right now, what with trying to find a new job and all.

Let me know what you think of the show, and especially let me know if you are aware of any other podcasts I might try getting my music played on. That would rule.

Unemployed

I was laid off today.

At least I think I was. I'm not sure what it's called when the company you're working for goes out of business, and you are thrown out into the sea of recession job hunting without warning.

Well I guess those guys with the big truck who were moving all the vending machines out of the vending machine repair place this morning was sort of a hint. But that only came about four hours before the sound of the hammer which drove the third nail into the coffin of Changer Solutions, INC. reached my ears. I'm not sure what my next move will be, but hopefully it is a good one. I'll be looking for positions at local places starting on Tuesday. I plan on checking the Radio Shack, and the FYE on Hampton, but I'm not too hopeful. My brother says he can get me a job at Applebee's if I can't find anything else. I hope I find something else.

A part of me kind of hopes I can take up freelance writing, or figure out a way to actually start making money with my music. But I need money immediately.

I am scheduled to sign the lease for a new studio apartment on the 30th.

I should have stolen something.
