Been a while yes it has

Hello again St.Louis, we are plugging away at our CD project moving into two years now. Some bumps along the way have slowed us down but fully believing that God is Sovereign and that we are where we need to be.

I am pleased to say that we played at the ILL Rockfest in Otterville IL we had a good time and met some good people. I want to thank Billy Yates of "Red Jordan" for inviting us to the event. You guys were good, sorry that we could not stay and take part of the Rockfest as it moved indoors due to the weather.

We have some new songs and some well used old ones that are ready to be shared with the world. We thank you all for your continued support and prayers.

Phillipians 4:13

A Blog from a blog once again

Good morning to all:

The resurrection of our Lord Jesus is real and a whole world stopped to acknowledge that! You say not everyone some stopped to acknowledge that. You say not everyone some just eat chocolate and hunt eggs, and others just carry on as a normal day. Well however you look at it the world acknowledged that something significant took place and that is what we know as the resurrection of Jesus the Christ conquering death and the grave. Do I really think the whole world realizes that the resurrection is a historical fact, no but that does not negate the fact that the resurrection of Jesus the Christ is True.

So often Christians go through life not living as though Jesus is alive, sure we acknowledge that but our attitudes, reactions to certain actions, thoughts, etc. do not reflect that reality that we serve a living God who loves us and longs to walk with us. I am guilty, I allow the world to bring me down, I allow the circumstances to cloud my view of what my real purpose is. My purpose is to live my life using the gifts, talents, resources God has given me in order to bring Him Glory. Do you live like that each day? I fail so often but I am striving as part of the process, repentance from personal sin is part of living according to the Word of God. Our sin is what keeps us from experiencing the true freedom and abundance in life that God has given us.

We in Dependent Soul long to live our lives before God and man in that way. We are not perfect but we serve a perfect God who is more than able to equip us to live in this life and the next to the fullest ability we have been given. How do you know you are on the right path, I mean specifically on the right path? Can you know exactly what you are to do. We believe we are called to minister to others through the medium of music, the specifics will be lived out day by day, faith step by faith step. Trusting our Lord daily despite what we feel or see. Did I mention despite what we feel or see?

What we feel and see can be far from the reality that we actually experience. Faith says God is with us but we have all had those days, moments, that we wonder what God is doing or where He is at. Faith my friends is a living trust despite the environment we find ourselves in. A cozy warm fuzzy feeling does not mean that we are in the will of God nor does bad situations, bad feelings, or circumstances that seem unfair mean we are out of the will of God. Question: how do we know then.....TRUST GOD.....not emotions, or situations! Easier said than done I know!!

Well we are looking forward to what God will do with this CD project. Over a year now in the making and material for a second project right behind it so please be praying for us as we walk by faith not sight!!

We would love to hear from you, thanks for your continued prayer and support over the years.
